

Compassion: a deep awareness of and sympathy for another's suffering

Dr. Matt Phillips spoke to the Kiwanis Club of Montgomery about "Victims, Heroes, and Bystanders". One thing he said really stuck in my mind: "It takes no courage or character to be a bystander".

Wow.

In the past few weeks, we've seen people with courage and character who refused to be bystanders when their fellow Americans were suffering in the aftermath of hurricanes and floods. These people were moved with compassion. They had the desire to do for someone else what that person could not, at that moment, do alone.

These are the pictures I want to remember: people being rescued from their flooded homes by men who brought their fishing boats from other towns and even other states; young people passing out water and supplies they gathered from their schools and churches; women wearing paper masks helping families haul flood-soaked possessions to the curbs; volunteers in animal shelters in other towns taking in people's pets.

This is the real us - not the ones on the news, but the ones in the neighborhoods. Working together, crying together, toughing out the challenging times together.

There is a storm going on right here in Montgomery. Dozens of women every week are being swept into a sea of life-long regret after seeking abortions because they could not see any other way out of their situations.

There is a need for compassion on South Perry Street. Women are flooded with emotions, clinging to the belief that an abortion will make their situation better. Who will come to them in compassion and say, "We can help you; let us share a better way"? And if they do choose to abort, who will come to them with compassion and say, "We know the One who can help you; let Him heal your hurting heart"?

Compassion has been highlighted these past weeks, but the need doesn't end when the hurricanes pass. We need to brave the storm with courage and character and take the truth to the women who are struggling with the temptation to give up and give in.

Come brave the storm with us.

Life On Wheels ~ Driven by Compassion

Pit Crew Leader
Ed Gannon

I feel so blessed to be part of Life on Wheels! I meet so many wonderful people every time I drive. And, I'm actually able to do something to combat legal abortion, which I feel is a root cause of the disregard for human life in America today. Thank you so much Robyn, Ed, Dana, and all the rest at LOW! - Jeff

Why do I drive for LOW? Forty-four years ago, someone I deeply love went through an abortion and I saw the effect that it had on her. When she went through the "Forgiven and Free" class she was finally able to know that God had forgiven her. I want to be a part of a ministry that blesses others and keeps them from having to go through what she experienced. - Dave

Mission

Life On Wheels exists to support local crisis pregnancy centers by partnering with multi-denominational Christian ministries and individuals, to empower and assist pregnant women in making an informed and life-affirming decision for their child by utilizing the tool of ultrasound, and to assist the pro-life community and churches in promoting the sanctity of human life. We endeavor to help pregnant women by fostering loving relationships and serving as a resource to refer them for ongoing support and care.
